

Admissions 2017/2018. Two-year study programmes in art and filmmaking

Admissions procedures are the same for both the visual arts and filmmaking study programmes, and they are divided into two rounds.

Round I

Round I consists of submitted material:

1. Filled-out application form.
 2. A text containing reflections on the submitted works, why you want to study at NKFS, and what you want to do research on during your studies. 800-1,000 words.
 3. Independently produced works, consecutively numbered. These can consist of:
 - Film: One main work (max. 15 min.) and up to two additional works (the admissions board reserves the right to view only the first five minutes of additional works).
 - Video documentation of an exhibition/installation/performance. Combined video material cannot exceed 20 minutes.
 - Additional works can also be photographs/paintings (max. 10) and/or a manuscript (max. 15 pages).
 4. Curriculum Vitae, which includes a picture of yourself.

5. Notarized copies of relevant certificates and diplomas.

Round II

The admissions board makes its decisions based on the submitted material. Selected applicants are invited to the school to take practical tests and for a personal interview. (Tests are in advance of the interview.) Testing is scheduled in June.

The admissions board evaluates the applicant's

- Motivation
- Independence
- Artistic potential
- Reflective and analytical ability
